Hello Everyone,

Welcome to your new schooling routine!

I bet you find this pretty weird. You are not alone! We will all need to adapt to be futuristic, creative and flexible learners.

It will be difficult. It is not ideal. But you are superheroes and you can handle it.

 family members. You are only human after all.

But you will be CREATIVE and you will be able to spend time on all those things that you have been wanting to do... maybe learn to do a handstand? Learn Spanish? Re-decorate your bedroom? Try to beat some random world records? Take up the harmonica?

Although I am working 9-3:30 still at the school, I will have an abundance of Already I am channeling my inner superpowers to be patient with Mr. Schram's very "funny" dad-jokes, and my dog's excitement for me to be home earlier and with constantly. Which was cute for about 5 minutes...

You are going to be tested by the world in the next few weeks. You will get annoyed by little things. You will get bored. You will become impatient with your spare time in the evenings because $I$ won' $\dagger$ be coaching and running extracurricular at school.

I am already starting an indoor garden at my house, practicing my beading skills, reading the 100 s of books I have meant to read in the past few years, and teaching my dog some new tricks. Most importantly though, my goal of improving my VERY MEDIOCRE drawing skills gets some attention now. When we come back together I might even be able to draw a straight line.

And you are going to suffer the consequences of my new skill. You are my judges, my greatest critics. I will doodle for you. You will tell me how awesome I am getting. Boost my confidence please. Or be honest. Either works.

Long story short, I miss you already.
Stay safe and healthy. Stay in touch. Keep learning EVERY. SINGLE. DAY.

You are awesome ©

Hello Everyone,

Welcome to your new schooling routine!
I bet you find this pretty weird. You are not alone! We will all need to adapt to be futuristic, creative and flexible learners.

It will be difficult. It is not ideal. But you are superheroes and you can handle it.
Already I am channeling my inner superpowers to be patient with Mr. Schram's very "funny" dad-jokes, and my dog's excitement for me to be home earlier and more for him. My dog's expectation is that now he gets to be pet and played with constantly. Which was cute for about 5 minutes...

You are going to be tested by the world in the next few weeks. You will get annoyed by little things. You will get bored. You will become impatient with your family members. You are only human after all.

But you will be CREATIVE and you will be able to spend time on all those things that you have been wanting to do... maybe learn to do a handstand? Learn Spanish? Re-decorate your bedroom? Try to beat some random world records? Take up the harmonica?

Although I am working q-3:30 still at the school, I will have an abundance of spare time in the evenings because I won't be coaching and running extracurriculars at school.

I am already starting an indoor garden at my house, practicing my beading skills, reading the IOOs of books I have meant to read in the past few years, and teaching my dog some new tricks. Most importantly though, my goal of improving my VERY MEDIOCRE drawing skills gets some attention now. When we come back together I might even be able to draw a straight line.

And you are going to suffer the consequences of my new skill. You are my judges, my greatest critics. I will doodle for you. You will tell me how awesome I am getting. Boost my confidence please. Or be honest. Either works.

Long story short. I miss you already.
Stay safe and healthy. Stay in touch. Keep learning EVERY. SINGLE. DAY.

You are awesome $;$

Communication

If you have not yet (and you have internet access) please login to the Microsoft Teams app or website.
The app is free from the App Store and looks like this: TB or You login with your school email and password:

firstname.lastname@stu.sunrisesd.ca

Here you will find a CHAT section where we can communicate as a class, or one-on-one. In the CHAT application, I can also Video Conference with you or a group to help answer questions.

Microsoft Teams will be very helpful for communicating, but if you do not have internet or access to it, everything you need will also be available in paper form at the Monday and Wednesday pick-ups.

I am also available by phone - call the school l-204-367-2296 to reach me anytime between 9 and 3:30 Monday to Friday.

supports

Students will be successful using the following supports:

- Math Makes Sense 9 Textbook
- www.mathisfun.com
- www.burnspvw.weebly.com
- Emailing Ms. Burns for help hburns@sunrisesd.ca or Microsoft Teams

If at any time during the school closure you need support from Mrs. Borlase, Melissa, Mr. Otter or Mr. Whelan (or any other school support person) they will also be available by phoning the school.
